GENERAL INDEX

Suggestions for Use of Index

WITH such exceptions as noted below, articles are indexed under the apparatus to which they chiefly refer. This index is essentially a subject index and not an index of titles. A liberal use of cross references is designed to assist in finding articles.

Central-station companies and their general activities are indexed under the state and city in which they are located. Cities and other communities are indexed under the state in which they are located.

Some related articles have been grouped under such headings as follows:

ASSOCIATIONS AND SOCIETIES (major articles and news items relating to associations are listed under names of individual organizations).
BOOK REVIEWS.
COMMERCIAL ACTIVITIES AND PRACTICES (includes articles on merchandising by central-station companies and dealers).
COMMISSION REGULATIONS AND RULINGS (includes articles pertaining to state public service commissions and their ordinances).
COURT DECISIONS (includes articles on legal rulings).
DISTRIBUTION.
FINANCIAL AND CORPORATE MATTERS.
GENERATING STATIONS, STEAM.
GENERATION.
HYDRO-ELECTRIC DEVELOPMENTS AND PLANTS.
MANUFACTURING AND MARKETS (includes articles on business and trade conditions).
MEASUREMENTS AND MEASURING.
NEW EQUIPMENT (new devices brought out by manufacturers are included under this head).
OWNERSHIP (includes customer, government, municipal and public ownership articles).
PUBLIC RELATIONS.
RATES.
RESEARCH.
RURAL ELECTRIC SERVICE (includes articles on farm electrification).
STATISTICS.
TESTING.
TRADE AND INDUSTRY RELATIONS.
TRANSMISSION.
UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT (except articles relating to the Federal Power Commission).

Articles indicated by an asterisk are illustrated, while articles followed by the letter "D" appeared in the Digest of Contemporary Electrical Literature.

Following the main index is an index of authors of signed articles, and following that is an index of men whose names have appeared in the section entitled "News About Men of the Industry."
